Q: Android canvas not drawing filled circle I've got an app that is making a shape with a rounded rectangle. I can draw the rectangle fine but when I try to use `canvas.drawRoundRect(rect, x, y, width, height)` to draw the rounded rectangle, the shape draws fine but is not filled. Here is my `drawRect` code:

```
@Override
public void onDraw(Canvas canvas) {
    canvas.drawRect(mRect, mPen);
    canvas.drawBitmap(mDrawBitmap, mMatrix, mPaint);
    canvas.drawRoundRect(rect, 10, 10, mPaint);

 As you can see the circle that is drawn is not filled. I'm not even sure if I'm even doing `canvas.drawRoundRect` properly. A: I'm not even sure if I'm even doing `canvas.drawRoundRect` properly. You are not, that's for sure. See the documentation here (look at the "Tips" section, it's pretty short and to the point): The specified paint is used for the shape's interior. The `r`, `x`, `y`, `width`, and `height` arguments specify the size and position of the shape's interior. This is done with the paint. Any stroke and fill behavior are ignored. Also, you should call `canvas`.
